A photograph of a child standing on a wide set of stone steps. The steps are made of large, light-colored stone blocks and lead up to a wall of similar stone blocks. The child is wearing a dark cap, a white shirt with dark stripes on the sleeves, and dark shorts. A strong shadow of the wall is cast onto the steps and the child. The text is overlaid on the left side of the image.

-Every new beginning comes from some other beginnings end.

(Seneca)

A large group of men, likely from the early 20th century, are posed for a formal group photograph. They are arranged in several rows, with some standing in the back and others seated or kneeling in the front. They are all dressed in formal attire, including suits, ties, and hats. The background shows a large, classical-style building with stone steps and columns. The overall tone of the image is historical and formal.
